
Figure 1: Large part of the study area dominated by sugarcane	Figure 2: Farm dams are constructed to support agriculture and forestry

Figure 3: Looking south along Corridor 3, showing Scarp Forest at the Ongoye Forest Reserve, with KwaZulu-Natal Coastal Belt Grassland in the foreground	Figure 4: Intact Coastal Belt Grassland habitat along Corridor 3, with Scarp Forest patches in the valleys

Figure 5: The Thukela River pictured here along Corridor 2, also traverses Corridor 3 and Relatively minor drainage line along Corridor 2 with a large seasonal floodplain and wetland area

Figure 6: The Mthatuze River along Corridor 3 in the north of the study area	Figure 7: The southern extent of the study area is dominated by sugarcane farming as illustrated here by the typical habitat at Substation Site F

Figure 8: Intensively developed landscape north of the Thukela River along Corridor 2, showing the existing Eskom power line as well as the mix of sugarcane and homesteads

Figure 9: Rural landscape south of the Ongoye Forest within Corridor Alternative 1. The landscape consists of alternating transformed areas associated with homesteads and intact grasslands or forest patches